PREPARATION METHOD

Cut the salmon fillet into twelve pieces, chop 2 portions into fine tartare and season with salt, pepper and a little lime juice.

Fry the remaining portions of salmon, skin-side down, in a dash of hot oil until semi-cooked, turn, add a knob of butter and leave to rest.

For the mayonnaise, puree all the ingredients in a blender to make a mayonnaise and season to taste if necessary.

Mix the ingredients for the sweet-and-sour vegetables together, bring quickly to the boil, allow to cool immediately and then strain.

Clean all the vegetables, cut into thin slices and pour the sweet-and-sour mixture over them. Allow to marinate for one hour.

For the chutney, gently fry the shallot in a little oil, add the cucumber, gherkins, pieces of zest and gelling sugar and allow to cook for another 5 minutes. Season with salt and pepper and allow to cool.

Serve the lukewarm salmon with a quenelle of tartare on a plate and garnish with a few lines of the mayonnaise, the chutney and the sweet-and-sour vegetables.
